in Every Line of
"M.S.M."
Clothing

Some clothes are like some men—they have character or individuality. "M. S. M." clothing is that way. The lines are manly and strong—the fabrics are good and honest—the colorings are genteel.

A great line of spring suits—swagger models for the young man—and stylish sacks in modest, neat effects to dressy frocks for the man who wants to look young.

We've put quality into our clothes—we've put honest workmanship—we've got every style idea that is good—and the prices are right.

Sack suits are $10.90 to $37.50.

Frock coats and vests are $20.00 to $35.00.

Top-coats are $13.75 to $30.00.

MUST TEST CATTLE

Proposed Regulation Against Tubercular Milk.

PART OF HEALTH CRUSADE

District Officer Woodward Submits Proposition to the Commissioners. Heretofore All Tests Have Been Voluntary—Fight to Be Made Also on Contamination of Foods by Files.

In an effort to improve the milk supply, Health Officer W. C. Woodward yesterday submitted to the Commissioners the draft of a proposed regulation making compulsory the tuberculin test of cattle. Heretofore a tuberculin test has been voluntary, but in view of the recent statements regarding the relation of the milk supply to the prevalence of disease, it is believed that the time has come to make it compulsory, and that it is within the power of the District government to do so.

Dr. Woodward states that beyond question tuberculosis is communicable among dairy cattle, and it has, in his judgment, been demonstrated to be communicable through milk from dairy cattle to human beings.

The proposed regulations provide that "No person shall, in the District of Columbia, sell milk or cream, or offer milk or cream for sale or for manufacture into food products, or bring or procure to be brought milk or cream into said District for sale or for manufacture into food products, or manufacture milk or cream into any food product, unless the cow or cows by which said milk or cream is produced have been proven, by means of the tuberculin test, to be free from tuberculosis, as hereinafter specified."

Must Be Applied to All Cows.

"The tuberculin test shall be applied to every cow on every farm at least once in every twelve months, and any cow which gives a positive reaction to the use of tuberculin shall be considered tuberculous, and shall immediately be removed from said farm, and shall not thereafter be returned to said farm, nor used for the production of milk or cream for sale or for manufacture into food products in the District of Columbia."

"Every cow found to be free from tuberculosis shall be permanently marked by means of an ear tag furnished by the health department of the District. All inspections and tuberculin testing required shall be made by veterinarians satisfactory to the District Health Officer or to the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture."

Fight Against Flies Also.

Dr. Woodward also submitted to the Commissioners a draft of regulations intended to procure the proper screening of food against flies and to provide for the equipment of places where food is sold with facilities for proper sanitation.

The regulations include every store, market, dairy, cafe, luncheon, or any place in the District where a food or beverage or confectionery is manufactured, or prepared for sale, stored for sale, offered for sale, or sold.

Violation of the regulation is made punishable by a fine of $25 for each and every offense.

SCORES CITY'S ENGINEERS.

George A. Ames Criticizes the Grading on Connecticut Avenue.

In a letter to the Commissioners, George A. Ames, 1465 F street, states that he believes the money appropriated for the grading of the road past his home on Connecticut avenue was squandered without accomplishing anything but destruction of private property.

"I respectfully call your attention to the condition of the entrance to my home, Fairfield, on Connecticut avenue, between Frant and Chapel roads. I cannot help but feel that if a lot of vandals had been allowed to destroy property, they could not have made a more disgraceful job of it than the waste of public funds and the lack of common sense and practical judgment exhibited in the pretended grading in front of my house."

"I have requested the engineer department several times to fix the entrance to my house so I could enter without going ankle-deep in the mud. Now I appeal to you, the head of the board, as the only one I can look to for justice."

INTERSTATE Y. M. C. A.

Result of Field Work Satisfactory.

George F. Tibbitts, Secretary of the Interstate Y. M. C. A., will deliver an illustrated lecture at the Belasco Theater this afternoon at 8 o'clock. He has been giving a series of lectures this winter with great success, and a large crowd is expected to hear him.

The Interstate field, of which A. M. Lothrop is the chairman, which comprises the States of Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia, has been fruitful of new buildings during the past year, and an immense amount of money has been subscribed for further advancement. The religious work throughout the field has also been aggressive, and the meetings have been held with large attendance and satisfactory results.

APPRENTICE BOYS IN UNION

Composed of Naval Gun Factory Lads Who are Trained in Fine Workmanship.

One of the most interesting of Washington's labor organizations is Potomac Lodge, No. 17, Junior Order of Machinists. It is composed of the machinists' apprentice boys employed at the Washington Navy Yard.

The organization was completed a year ago last February with a score of members, and to-day there are hundreds of names on its rolls. Its finances are in excellent condition, and speaks well for the youngsters who have served as its officers.

They are a sturdy, fine looking lot of boys, who receive an excellent training as machinists' apprentices. This is particularly true in the local Naval Gun Factory, where the work is of an exceptionally high standard. As an illustration of the remarkable accuracy to which the men are trained, it is cited that a large portion of the work has to be machined to one-thousandth part of an inch, or just one-third of the thickness of a human hair.

Besides passing an entrance examination, the boys are required to take an examination every three months in reading, writing, mechanical drawing, and other subjects relative to their work. Promotions are made strictly on merit and efficiency.

The "big lodge," or Columbia Lodge of Machinists, looks after the juniors with the jealous care of a fond parent. Meetings are held every Sunday, and a number of social entertainments are given during the year, some of them stag and some of them at which the girls are invited. Members and officers of the "big lodge" frequently visit the boys, and on these occasions business is usually suspended long enough for a speech from the visitor. Last Sunday J. R. Rigles and C. E. Bell visited the boys. They both spoke on trade unionism and labor conditions throughout the country.

The present officers of the Junior or Potomac Lodge are: George Torney, past president; H. E. Litchfield, president; A. G. Schmidt, vice president; H. Henderson, recording secretary; W. L. King, treasurer; Frank Mead, conductor; H. F. Hagan, chaplain; P. Monahan, sentinel; W. P. Turner, Thomas Bresnahan, and E. S. Cooper, trustees.
